SCOTT-BAKER MARRIAGE.

Much Dissatisfaction Among the Invited Guests—Social Discrimination Criticized—Some Asked to Remain to Supper and Others Requested to Leave—Mrs. Scott's Explanation.

Washington, D. C., March 7, 1911.

Editor of The Bee: The Scott-Barker wedding came off to-night and 500 people were invited to the reception from 8 to 10 o'clock. About 9 o'clock a gentleman called off several names and then said, "All others please get your things and depart." In other words, it is "Sheep stay in and goats butt out."

Yours truly, M. J. WELLS.

Others stated that a piece of cake was handed each guest on his way out. Hence, the special invited guests were selected, because the supper table had not been disturbed until such guests were asked to depart who were not requested to remain, and the special 60 enjoyed the elaborate supper that had been so tastefully prepared by a caterer. Some few refused the cake that was handed to them. Mrs. Scott makes the following statement:

Mrs. Scott, in talking to a reporter of The Bee, said she regretted very much the above affair and knew nothing about the few who were selected to remain to the private dance in honor of Lenora Winfield, of Boston. It was gotten up by the ushers while in the house. "She also stated that every one was served with a piece of cake before leaving, and the dance was a private affair, which the guests to the marriage reception had nothing to do with and were not invited to remain. Mrs. Scott declares that the report is absolutely false.

West Washington News.

The Nineteenth Street Baptist choir sang for the morning service at Mount Zion M. E. Church, Twentieth street northwest, on Sunday last, and those who were present were treated with excellent musical selections.

Prof. James Walker is to be congratulated on the work of the well-trained choir, the singing of which seemed to vibrate as it were from the rafters with re-echoing voices of the late Prof. R. S. Parrott in Mount Zion in days of yore. At the same hour the full choir of Mount Zion M. E. Church rendered the music at the Nineteenth Street Baptist Church, with Prof. J. T. Beason, leader, and received loud expressions of praise from the large congregation present.

This interchanging of musical courtesy was highly commendable and reflected much credit on the respective leaders in their musical sphere.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Morris, an old and much-respected citizen, took place Friday, March 3, 1911, from Mount Zion M. E. Church, and was largely attended by many prominent white families by whom the deceased was highly regarded. Many floral offerings were presented by the friends. Rev. D. W. Hayes officiated. Interment at Mount Zion Cemetery.

The Young People's Dramatic Club recently organized in the West End will shortly appear with one of their beautiful dramas.

The solo rendered by Mrs. Noah Duiquit in "Qui Tollis" Sunday morning at Mount Zion M. E. Church was highly pleasing and worthy of special mention.

Rev. D. W. Hayes, pastor of Mount Zion M. E. Church, will leave March 20 to attend the Annual Conference of the M. E. Church to meet in Lynchburg, Va.

Rev. E. E. Ricks, the pastor of the First Baptist Church, preached to a large congregation Sunday morning, and at the close of the services baptized several candidates, and fourteen new members attached themselves to the church.

The Church Directory Board of Mount Zion M. E. Church still bears the name of the ex-pastor, who has been stationed in Roanoke, Va., for nearly a year. Will the Trustees please explain for the benefit of the membership and the public in general?

Smart Set.

The noted colored comedian and star, S. H. Dudley, whose fame as a funmaker extends across the entire continent, has one of the best roles in his career in the three-act musical comedy, "His Honor the Barber," which the famous Smart Set will present again this season. The piece will be the next attraction at the Howard Theatre. Edwin Hanford wrote the book, and the music and lyrics are the work of Messrs. Brynum, Smith and Burris. The comedy abounds in uncensored humor, clever sarcasm, satire, real wit and novelty of superlative degree. It sparkles with effervescent activity and overflows with laugh-provoking situations. The musical numbers are of the jingling, catchy order. There is not a mediocre song among the 15 offered, which is saying a good deal in this era of progressive, machine-made melody. Mr. Dudley will appear as Raspberry Snow, a shiftless, ne'er-do-well Negro, who wants to shake the President of the United States. Unfortunately, this ambition is never realized. Not a detail has been overlooked to make the offering delectable and acceptable. It is rich in unique features, surprises, scenic adornment, electrical and stage effects, besides bristling with fun of the sort that is both durable and wholesome. Aida Overton Walker, recognized as America's foremost comedienne and dancer, is another important addition to a cast of capable and talented artists. Miss Walker offers an entirely new specialty and some of the costumes she wears are said to be a dream of the dressmaker's art and execution. Others who aid Mr. Dudley in his fun-making propensities are Ella Anderson, Lottie Grady, Andrew Tribble and Irving Allen.

Black Patti Coming Next Week.

A classic stage attraction, but one which appears each season new as the newest in its added features, is the Black Patti Musical Company, which presents this year "A Trip to Africa," a musical comedy in three acts, prepared by John Larkins.

The show scintillates with bright comedy gems, and is alive with musical and novelty features. Madame Sissieretta Jones, the original Black Patti, the musical star of this attraction, is a singer than whom none of her race and few of any race can claim a higher niche in the hall of fame of singers. She is at her best this year and surrounded by a sprightly troupe of singers, dancers and comedians.

On arranging for the presentation of "A Trip to Africa," due deference was shown to the musical numbers, and the comedy will contain full measure of music, laughter and dancing, and half a score of novel features new to the Black Patti show, and, for the most part, new to the stage.

The show this season is better than ever before; the musical numbers, as they deal with the chorus, are all new, and are fine examples of the brightest and best in humorous and sentimental music. Madame Jones will sing two songs in the second act. In the third act she will appear as the Princess Lulu, and also sing with the sextet, which will give selections from the grand opera "Lucia de Lammermoor."

Prices, 25, 50 and 75 cents.

A Beautiful Home Wedding.

One of the most eventful happenings in the lives of two young people of Washington took place Tuesday evening (March 7) when the wedding bells pealed forth the joyous tidings that the sacred bonds of matrimony had been welded between the hearts of Miss Marion Toussaint Scott, the daughter of Mrs. Edward D. Scott and the late Dr. E. D. Scott, and Mr. Charles N. Barker, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's mother, 903 Ninth street northeast, the Rev. Dr. D. F. Rivers, of Berean Baptist Church, officiating.

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock, Mr. John E. Lemos commenced Mendelssohn's wedding march in all its sublimity and grandeur, and the beautiful ceremony was begun. First came the little ribbon girls—Misses Robbie Brown, Evalyn Brooks, Blanche Hope, and Flossie Childs—who, with their streamers of ribbon, formed an aisle. Then came the groom and his best man Mr. Wm. E. English, both in full evening attire. These were followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Lenora Wingfield, of Boston, Mass., at-ward D. Scott and the late Dr. E. D. Scott, and Mr. Charles N. Barker, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's mother, 903 Ninth street northeast, the Rev. Dr. D. F. Rivers, of Berean Baptist Church, officiating.
